STATE KEY CITIES REPORT BUSINESS CHANGES SLIGHT

Coal Strike Adds to Mounting Anxiety in Major Towns

TOBACCO SALES ARE FAIRLY HEAVY

Very little change in the business situation was indicated during the past weeks in reports to the Department of Commerce from 36 key cities received by its Louisville District Office. Bright spots in the picture were well sustained construction activity and its side lines, retail automobile sales, and department store sales, all of which were well above the levels of last year in some centers. Wholesale trade maintained an even pace, with few distant commitments. Wholesale hardware probably made the best showing in this branch of trade. The shut-downs in the bituminous coal fields were extended as more miners were called out. The National Association of Purchasing Agents reported that "average" supplies of coal were still large on May 1 though stocks were low in some instances. Practically all reporting cities showed retail trade above the same period last year, with an average increase of approximately 5%.

Louisville reported that little change in volume of retail sales noted, as totals continued to fall somewhat below year ago. Wholesale of dry goods reported sales slow, but approximating those of year ago. Manufacturing operations continued on fairly even keel. Coal shut-down in mining areas of the district more serious, as deadstock remained unbroken.

Kentucky employment services reported placements for past week totaled 524, a decrease of 21.3% from previous week.

Louisville bank clearings increased 18.5% from year ago. Deliveries of dark-fired tobacco in Western District markets fairly heavy for last week of the season, with prices some higher, though quality generally common.

Work to begin soon on new wing at Millersburg, Ky., military institution.

Allotment announced for $200,000 for building 240 miles of rural electric lines in 8 counties in Southeastern Indiana.

Contract of $387,324 awarded for work on road in Nelson county, Ky.

State Would Raise Taxes on Property Through Kentucky

The State Tax Commission informed county officials here today it contemplated raising the assessment on taxable property by 10 per cent on real estate and 30 per cent on tangible property.

James W. Martin, as spokesman for the Commission, set Friday, May 19, as the date on which the Commission will hear arguments from people over the State tax might be opposed to the proposal.

Authorities said here this morning they would oppose the move, and it was understood the Chamber of Commerce here will make some effort in an attempt to prevent the tax increase.

Ward Shows Are Colorful; To Be Open Saturday

Colorful in presentation, the carnival offers all the jargon of the typical midway and sideshow, and has all the ballyhoo and drum-beating of the three-ring circus.

Merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, rock-and-whirls, and various devices for hilarity fill out the revels for the thrill-seeking carnival-goer.

Members of the Woman's Club said today the show would remain in Murray through Saturday night.

Mrs. Bishop Breaks Arm in Fall Tuesday

Mrs. C. A. Bishop broke her left wrist, Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock when she fell from a step-ladder on which she was standing to hang curtains in the bathroom of her home.

Mrs. Bishop had climbed halfway down the ladder when she suddenly stepped off and felt the remaining distance. Her arm will be in a cast for more than a month.

Concert Association Lists Noted Artists For Season

The Community Concert Association completed its drive for membership over the week-end with an increase over last year and the promise of brilliant concerts for the 1939-40 season. The association feels, its sponsors said, that in the selection of the following artists for next season its members in Murray and neighboring cities will have the opportunity of hearing the best in their respective fields.

The Barre-Britt ensemble in an unusual concert attraction with thirty-one different instrumental combinations. In two months—from January 8 to March 7—they played thirty-two engagements and were enthusiastically received wherever they were presented.

Miss Lucy Monroe, brilliant American lyric soprano, made her debut with the Metropolitan Association in "La Boheme." She is a favorite in opera and radio and her pleasing stage presence and vivacious personality combined with an excellent voice provide many thrilling moments. She is regarded by many as the greatest lyric opera star in America—and as the best dressed of musical artists.

Mieczyslaw Munz, pianist, is an international celebrity, having been on tour in the U. S. A., Australia, Europe, Asia, Canada and South America. He is a real musical genius and complete master of the piano. This season marks his regular American concert season after having spent the past several years abroad.

"Stop" Signs Are Erected in City

Parking Lanes for Cars and Pedestrian Walks Are Marked Off

Sixty-four "stop" signs have been erected by the city at that many different spots, indicating preferential streets for traffic. This will aid in a marked improvement in traffic conditions here in Murray, and if the public will kindly obey them, it will avoid possible serious accident, city officials believe.

The signs were erected in Murray at no cost to the city as the advertising on them paid for their installation. The only cost to the city will be to see that they remain in place in good condition and change the plates from time to time.

Another improvement here is the newly marked parking lanes for cars, and the lanes for pedestrians in crossing the streets. All motorists should be especially careful when they see people walking in these safety zones, traffic regulators advise.

An improvement has been noted on the part of school children since the start of the school safety patrol system professors declare. They are becoming educated to the principles of safety, it is said, and many of them now stop and look both ways before crossing the street, whereas they did not before. School officials are receiving the compliments of the public for instigating a public safety program in the schools, and in the formation of the school safety patrols.

Picture Film to Portray Story of Progress of Man

Behind the story of man's achievements is the glamour and romance of unbelievable struggle and heartache, of hope and sweet reward, of magnificent striving, of bitterness and bloody struggle.

The portrayal of that struggle from the eve of recorded history to the present-day marvels of an industrial age will be shown in an 8-reel moving picture, "The Human Adventure," to be presented in the auditorium of Murray State College Tuesday night at 8 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Geography Club.

With a friend, she had climbed into the loft to look at some kittens and lost her footing when climbing back down.

Structural Work on Woman's Clubhouse Will Start This Month If Plans Work Out

Murray's new Clubhouse, a structure to be valued at more than $25,000, will be started this month, if plans arranged by the Murray Woman's Club and the National Youth Administration work out. The picture above shows an architect's conception of the Clubhouse, which will be made of native Calloway county stone. Note the commodious, sprawling piazzas of the edifice.

Members of the Murray Woman's Club said here Wednesday they had completed arrangements with regional NYA directors, Jesse Hunt and Jesse Harris to begin construction on a Murray clubhouse, planned for more than a year, within the month.

The Murray Woman's Club and the City are co-sponsors of this community project from which all will benefit.

Hunt and Harris finished plans here Wednesday for construction of the edifice immediately.

To be built of native Calloway county stone taken from the farm of Mrs. G. B. Scott, the clubhouse will be a modern marvel of architecture, clubwomen say.

Mrs. C. C. Palmer today asked the support and cooperation of Murray citizens in providing boarding places at $18 a month for 20 young men on the NYA rolls who will work on the building. The Woman's Club will also need trucks with which to haul the stone from the quarry, Mrs. Palmer said, and made the request that persons who might donate a truck and driver for one day call her at telephone number 405. Nick Hutson, she had, already appropriated sufficient gasoline to use in the trucks while hauling.

Commerce Group To Aid in Tennessee Bridge Construction

The Stewart County Chamber of Commerce at Dover, Tenn., this week endorsed a resolution favoring immediate commencement of the paving of State Highway No. 75 between the Tennessee River bridge at the mouth of the Big Sandy River on the border of Stewart and Henry counties, and Dover.

The bridge, the Chamber of Commerce maintained, has greatly increased traffic in that area, and it is very urgent, commerce heads declared, that the work begin immediately.

The Young Business Men's Club of Murray has pledged its support to the Tennessee organization, and Murray's newly organized Chamber of Commerce is behind the move, believing Murray would be equally benefited from paved roads from here to the Tennessee city.

NYA TO GIVE AID TO 62 CALLOWAY STUDENTS IN '39

Organization in Kentucky Has Been Most Useful to Needy Pupils

BOTH HIGH SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES LISTED

National Youth Administration assistance has been provided for 62 students from Calloway county, to enable them to attend school, according to a report released by Robert K. Salyers, State NYA director, today.

The student-aid branch of the National Youth Administration, designed to help deserving young people to further their educational careers, gives part-time employment to needy students between the ages of sixteen and twenty-four, inclusive, who find it impossible to go to school without financial assistance.

On May 1, 1939, 1,924 college students in Kentucky had been approved for NYA student aid for the school year. It is estimated that a total of 57,000 different young people in Kentucky have received assistance through part-time employment on NYA student aid programs and NYA work projects for out-of-school youth. Mr. Salyers said:

College and university students earn from $6.00 to $15.00 monthly for work on projects devised and supervised by local school authorities. Varied types of work are performed under the supervision of teachers and other school employees, including clerical work, construction, library assistance, mimeographing, ground and building maintenance, research, home economics, art, laboratory assistance, and recreation work.

Rooms for Rent?

Commendable in inspiration even though its execution is thus far lagging is the plan of the Chamber of Commerce to catalogue every available rental opportunity in Murray, either for business or private residential occupancy.

After July 1, when construction progress booms at Gilbertsville, the demand for living quarters will even go so far as to exceed the supply available. Chamber of Commerce officials believe.

But it will vastly facilitate their efforts to accommodate all persons who plan to make Murray their home to have at their fingertips every home for rent, every apartment, and every single room to which they might send applicants.

It would be a move-worthy of a cooperative citizenship to aid the Chamber of Commerce in its endeavor to welcome incoming residents to this city.

Make a list of your own available conveniences and turn it in to Chamber of Commerce officials. They'll appreciate it, and you will have done your part in helping others as you help yourself.

RALPH'S RANGLES

With the next two days seeing no rainfall, sports fans of this part of the state are in for a treat out at Murray State College stadium Friday afternoon when the Hill-toppers of Bowling Green will come here for a track meet with the Thoroughbreds.

Track and field events are in their infancy at Murray State and one must remember that it takes years of experience and training to produce a No. 1 track team.

To produce a seasoned team on the field in early spring, it will have been necessary that the trainees have worked out during the winter portion of the time since last track season. In fact, it's a year round job to keep in shape for these speed, distance, and weight events.

Probably after the time and distance of the winners of this meet are given they will likely be just a wee bit above a class A northern high school's record. In years to come when high schools take up track in earnest, colleges of this area will produce top-notch teams.

Track and field events are, to my way of thinking, the most interesting of all out door contests to witness. These events bring out in the open the individual's prowess, his ability, his physical condition, his coordination of every muscle in his endeavor to win.

It will be well worth your while to watch Stanley with his javelin. He is a master of the spear and has brilliant form.

After reviewing local talent for track and field, as well as other sports, we find a very interesting story of my friend Glenn Jeffrey. His success in these events were amazing and after much hedging and begging I have finally gained the consent of Glen to use his track experience in story form and it will appear in this column next week's issue.

Just to give you an idea of his skill perfect track form, he can at any time still step out on the track and clock off the 100-yard dash in the fast time somewhere in the 10's. Not bad, eh? Watch for his story.

Women Answer From 12 States

To date, Touring Reporters have visited the principal cities of 12 Southern states; have asked 1297 users their famous question: "Did CARDUI help you?"

Of those 1297 users, 1266 said they were definitely benefited by CARDUI. That's 93 out of every 100. What a record!

CARDUI is a good stimulator for lagging appetites, a real aid to digestion and assimilation. That's why its proper use enables so many women to build up, physical resistance, and thus helps them avoid the periodic pain of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

The Small HOME

Now the small home can be built right from start to finish. It can be well designed. It can be well constructed. It can include modern conveniences.

The small home has never been so usable—and livable. Home financing has never been so practical for the moderate-income family.

The down payment may be as low as one-tenth of the property valuation. One loan will take care of the remaining cost of a new home. Repayment is made in monthly installments out of your income over ample time.

Now is the time for everyone who has a steady job, no matter how small, to build a home of his own. Plans and estimates cheerfully furnished without obligation. Come in.

REVISION OF CITY CARRIER ROUTES INCLUDES COLLEGE

H. T. Waldrop Says Change
Will Be Made
On May 16

ARRANGEMENT TO BE HIGHLY SATISFACTORY

Effective May 16, a revision of the Murray Postoffice carrier service will be made to include certain areas not heretofore served by city delivery. Postoffice officials said today.

The service, extended to most of the territory in College Addition, will be arranged in three regularly established routes.

Postmaster H. T. Waldrop, in releasing the statement relative to the carrier route revision, declared he felt the step would meet with approval from all patrons of the routes.

The official statement as given by Waldrop follows:

"This office is in receipt of an authorization from the Post Office Department providing for an extension and revision of the City Delivery Service in Murray. This change will become effective May 16.

"The existing two regular city routes and one auxiliary route will be entirely rearranged to compose three regularly established routes.

"City Delivery Service will include the following territory which has not heretofore been served by a city carrier:

"Fourteenth Street from Poplar to 1/2 mile north of Olive Street.

"Main Street from 14th Street to Poplar.

"Thirteen houses on South 15th Street.

All houses on North 16th Street to 1/2 mile of Five Points.

Thirty-eight residences on Miller, Farmer, and Hamilton Avenues.

"Seven residences on North 13th Street.

"Five residences on North side of Spangore Street adjacent to 4th Street.

"Five houses on both sides of Vine Street.

"Here and there throughout the city other minor additions have been made.

"Patrons will be expected to erect boxes on porch or door. This rearrangement is contingent upon complete numbering of houses and is expected that this will be practically done by May 16.

"Patrons of the city delivery service are reminded that this revision of the service will entail considerable work on the part of postal employees and that the adjustment to the new set-up may require a few days of patience and co-operation between patrons

Frank Smith Acts To Be in Murray All of Next Week

Murray Post No. 73 of the American Legion will sponsor the Frank Smith Players for a week's engagement here beginning Monday night. It was announced Tuesday by N. P. Hutson, commander of the local post.

The Smith players are well known here, making appearances here for the last 15 years. One of the newest additions to the Smith cast is Lew Childre, "the boy from Alabama," a singing star who has gained a wide reputation over Station XERA. He will appear nightly in the big tent, on the Phillips lot.

Smith said here today his opening play will be "Boomerang," and a new production will be given each night. Vaudeville features will enhance the between-act novelties. The American Legion post will receive a percentage of the gate receipts.

Senate Passes Huge Farm Bill in Sub Committee Meet

WASHINGTON, May 11—While sounds of pain came from the Treasury, farm-conscious Senators took firm command of the situation in the Senate Monday and in rapid-fire order voted a series of increases totaling $300,000,000 in the agriculture department appropriation bill.

As the measure stood at the close of the day, it carried the record-smashing total of approximately $1,215,000,000 for the department's expenditures in the year beginning July 1, including $225,000,000 for parity payments and $203,000,000 to dispose of surplus crops.

While the voting was in progress, Secretary Morgenthau was telling reporters that he was "greatly disturbed." If Congress adds hundreds of millions to the bill, he said, it should vote taxes to raise the money.

Points To Deficit

He recalled that the deficit for the next fiscal year has been estimated at $3,000,000,000, without the increases in the farm bill, and said $3,300,000,000 was "plenty." It was time, he said, in response to one reporter's query, to start tapering down the federal deficits.

There was no indication Monday night of a movement to apply taxes to raise the extra money. Farm leaders in Congress had said that if this issue were raised they would reply that large increases in armaments expenditures were going through without any cry for taxes to pay for them.

Of the increases voted Monday, $380,000,000 had been approved by the Senate agriculture committee. There was little debate as the reading clerk droned through the amendments by which the committee increased the House-approved figures, but Senator King (D., Utah), took the floor to protest what he said was a "spending spree" and "progress toward bankruptcy."

Say Farmers In Need

Senators Capper (R., Kans.), and Lucas (D., Ill.), contended during the debate, however, that if Congress desired economy it should not begin with the farmer, whom they described as being in serious financial difficulties.

Besides increasing the proposed appropriation for parity payments and surplus crop disposal the Senate added $25,000,000 for loans under the farm tenant program. The House had voted $24,984,500 for the purpose.

The chamber accepted an amendment by Majority Leader Barkley (D., Ky.), to increase to $5,000,000 the $2,000,000 voted by the House for land for national forest. The Senate committee had recommended $3,000,000.

Another amendment by Barkley, to increase a House allowance of $375,000 for tobacco inspection to $525,000, also won Senate approval. The committee had agreed to $450,000 for the purpose.

As the bill passed the House it included $500,000,000 in benefit payments to cotton, corn, wheat, rice and tobacco growers, under the administrative crop control program, and $90,000,000 to finance disposal of surplus products.

The Senate increased the latter figure by $113,000,000, and in addition voted the $225,000,000 for parity payments.

(They are designed to raise prices toward parity, which is a price that would give a farm commodity the same purchasing power it had in pre-war days.)

The rapid progress of the farm measure today cleared the way for consideration tomorrow of a controversial proposal by Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.), for a 2-cent-a-pound subsidy on exports of new cotton.

WASHINGTON, May 11—Farm-minded Senators routed economy advocates Thursday when a Senate subcommittee approved an annual agricultural appropriations bill carrying more than $1,215,000,000.

This was $378,000,000 more than the House approved when it passed the farm funds bill more than a month ago. Most of the increase was earmarked for administration farm programs.

The subcommittee restored numerous items previously eliminated by the House.

Senator Townsend (R., Del.), said there was "some opposition" within the subcommittee to these increases and predicted economy advocates would oppose them later on the Senate floor.

Says Committee To Balk

Senator Russell (D., Ga.), who presided at the closed hearings of the subcommittee, said the full appropriations committee would act on the bulky farm bill some time next week.

Mason Hospital Postpones Program Set for Tomorrow

A Hospital Day celebration scheduled for Friday at the William Mason Hospital has been postponed indefinitely, the management of the institution said Tuesday. It gave as reason for the postponement extensive repair work and construction which would not be complete by Friday.

Li-Governor Keen Johnson had been scheduled as principal speaker for the occasion. Others who would have appeared on the program were Dr. James H. Richmond, Mayor George Hart, Senator T. O. Turner, Prof. Price Doyle, The Murray College and high school bands were also scheduled to play.

Harold White Is Given Promotion

Harold White, who left Murray not quite a year ago to make his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., is making good in his adopted city. It was learned here today.

White has recently been promoted to the position of traveling auditor for the Florida Power Corporation. His territory will include western and central Florida and southern Georgia with headquarters in St. Petersburg.

MURRAY-WESTERN TRACK MEETING IS SET FOR FRIDAY

Thoroughbreds Last Year
Swamped Hilltoppers By
89-30 Score

FRESHMAN SQUADS ALSO TO COMPETE

Murray and Western's second annual get-together on the cinder paths has been definitely carded for Friday afternoon, May 12, here. Last year Murray swamped the Hilltoppers 89-30.

Coach Jim Moore, who took over Murray's track-coaching this spring, is dubious over his charges in all events. Consistency has been entirely lacking from the Murray track team this season.

Western has a brilliant array of weight and jump men that will be thrown at Murray. Harry Saddler, high-jumper and pole vaulter, is expected to place first in both events for the Toppers, while Sam Panepinto, who holds the state record in the shot put, will get his third chance to finish ahead of Gudauskas and Morris. The carnival, which is one of the three presented annually in the United States, was presented before over 3500 persons last year. The University of Illinois and Springfield College, of Springfield, Mass., are the other two colleges that annually present an event of this kind.

Among the things planned are the crowning of the "Body Beautiful" of Murray State College, the Olympic Line of March, a pageant scheduled to open the carnival; brilliant fireworks displayed to intersperse the other features; a "Statuette" number to be starred by the show; track events; and other mass athletics. The entire personnel of the physical education department, including all persons taking physical education will be featured in the production.

Singing School Is Organized at Oak Grove for Saturdays

Organized Sunday afternoon by John Key, Calloway county impresario of song, a singing school will begin Saturday, May 20, at Oak Grove under the direction of Key himself. It will continue through succeeding Saturdays, beginning always at 2 o'clock.

On Saturday nights and Sunday afternoons, old-fashioned Harmony singings will be held—a program to which all the community is invited, Key said.

DENTISTRY AS A VOCATION

By DR. J. T. O'Rourke, Dean, School of Dentistry

The term "the new dentistry" is now frequently applied to the field which has for its purpose the prevention and treatment of diseases of the mouth, teeth, and related parts. The use of this term has followed rather noteworthy changes in dentistry, and persons who are considering this field as a vocation should realize that dentistry differs widely in its obligations and responsibilities from what it did in former years.

Recognition of the fact that dental diseases affect general body health has enlarged the field of dentistry, increased its responsibilities, and has caused marked changes to be made in the character of the training of persons who select dentistry for their vocation.

Young men and women who are contemplating dentistry as a vocation should see it as one which not only has changed greatly, but which also is faced, with a health problem tremendous in extent and bearing on the physical welfare of all people. It is a vocation no longer limited merely to filling teeth, or constructing substitutes for lost teeth, rather it deals with a distinct health problem having significant relations to other fields of health service.

Many new subjects are now included in the course of study for dentistry. These have been found necessary because of the increased importance of dental health, and the need for a high degree of training required to cope with the problems involved.

Young men and women often ask, "Is dentistry a crowded profession?"

It is probably the least crowded of any of the professional groups rendering health service. The increasing number of dentists in the United States has not quite kept pace with the increase in population. Furthermore, somewhat more than eighty-five per cent of American people, both adults and children, have dental defects which should have immediate treatment.

With a return to more normal economic times, and with increasing regard for dental health, the demands for dental service will increase. This is regarded as inevitable, for there is a definite trend toward greater concern for individual and national health than ever before.

Success in dentistry is, of course, dependent upon training, skill, and other features which contribute to success in any vocation.

Phosphate Supply Is Low; J. T. Cochran Advises Buying Now

With the report that the supply of available phosphate under the ACP program is nearly exhausted, County Agent J. T. Cochran today warned all persons who plan to apply phosphate to their soils this year to make their applications immediately.

If phosphate is applied for now, and amount to one-half bushel, the application will be held in reserve for the person when he gets ready to use it. At a later date, the supply will have been exhausted.

Strawberry Shipping Season Nears; Activity Increases at Sales Sheds

Strawberry growers in Marshall, Calloway, and Graves county have been busy this week preparing for the marketing season which will begin early in June.

Much activity especially is noticeable around the shipping shed of the Graves County Fruit Growers Association since it has actively started the 1939 strawberry season. For the past week the growers have been busy hauling away knuckled down crates, but for the past few days a full crew has been putting up the crates so the growers may get them in any form desired.

Association officials expressed the opinion growers should obtain immediately half the crates they will need so they will have enough to take care of their needs during the rush of picking without having to stop for more crates. Crates, handles, and other materials may be secured at shipping sheds of the Association at Mayfield and Hardin.

Now the Agricultural Conservation Program has arranged for farmers of this county to get lime on their soil building allowance and pay only for hauling and handling in advance and pay for the time out of the A.C.P. check as they have been doing with phosphate for the past two years. Orders can be made now at the county office according to County Agent John T. Cochran.

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of articles from the office of the County Agent dealing with the Agricultural Conservation Program. The next will appear in an early issue.

Can a farmer farm without soil? Can a community or town grow without the farmer to exchange farm products for supplies? Obviously the answer to both questions is NO. Then it becomes every one's interest that each and every farm be productive. To be productive many of our present farmers are going to need to change their methods of farming and do it in such a way that soil will increase in plant food and productivity instead of depleting.

Soil building is a very important part of the Agricultural Conservation program. Its purpose is to build farmers in building soil, not that the total production will increase but that quality will be increased. Then the producer can put more of his land in grass and clover to get better and even though he cultivates less land, his total production will be maintained.

Lime in Calloway county must be added to the soil for best results in making or improving the productivity. Not only more per acre but better as was observed by Charles Bennett, of Blakely community, who limed one acre of a two acre plot year before last and seeded the two acres to lespedeza. When the cows were turned in the non-limed acre was four inches high, and the limed was eight inches high. Later Bennett found to his surprise the cows had not eaten any from the non-limed acre but had completely eaten the clover on the limed acre.

Loyell Palmer reported he cut hay in 1938 from limed land and and crates not used may be returned. Sheds are open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night.

All indications point to a bumper crop, officials say. Growers of the Blakemoor variety report they will have light pickings the last of this week or the first of next. Armas will be ready by May 20, or soon thereafter. If any grower is short of pickers, he can leave his name at either of the sheds and the deficiency will be supplied.

During the shipping season, sheds will be open for receiving berries at 10 o'clock in the morning.

From non-limed land. The hay was stacked in separate stacks. When the cows were turned to the hay they ate the stack of hay from the limed land completely before they ate the hay from the non-limed land.

Now the Agricultural Conservation Program has arranged for farmers of this county to get lime on their soil building allowance and pay only for hauling and handling in advance and pay for the time out of the A.C.P. check as they have been doing with phosphate for the past two years. Orders can be made now at the county office according to County Agent John T. Cochran.

Some Early History

By JOHN WRIGHT HOLSAAPPLE

In a former article I referred to Charley Stewart as a public speaker of some note in Calloway county. There was another speaker of the East Side of equal or superior ability. He was Will Ayers. It is my memory serves me, correctly he represented the county in the Legislature at one time. In fact Calloway has made a worth while contribution to leadership in thought and in action for the betterment of this old world. I am thinking of Col. Bert Thompson who was killed in the battle of Paducah during the Civil War; of Col. G. A. C. Holt, who was not only a colonel in the Confederate army but acted as Lieutenant Governor a short time; Hiram A. Boaz a retired bishop in the Methodist church now living at Fort Worth, Texas; B. E. Beckham, another Confederate soldier, who came to Texas and served as district judge in Fort Worth many years before his death just a few years ago; Captain T. A. Miller who taught country schools before volunteering for the Southern Confederacy and who was my first teacher, who also taught in the Murray Institute in his older days; L. C. Linn who was elected sheriff soon after the war and was later judge of the Circuit Court; and last but by no means least, Nathan Stubblefield, real inventor of the radio. These are just a few of the names that well up in my memory as I think of my native county. But space forbids the mention of all deserving ones.

While thus reminiscing I think of the muddy roads of the county in those early days. It was a long, long time before we had any gravel roads. Paved roads were not even dreamed of in my boyhood days. Most of our tobacco was hauled by wagon to the Tennessee river and most of the goods sold in Murray reached there in the same way. Steamboats a plenty plied up and down that navigable stream. Regular packets carrying both passengers and freight from St. Louis, Evansville, Paducah and intervening points. It was my privilege (or hard luck) to drive one of the mule teams of a freight line out of Murray. I have driven all night many times to get freight to Murray on time. My step-father, Joe Miller, hauled most of the freight. He usually had two wagons go together for mutual assistance in time of trouble.

We frequently had to double team up hills and through mud holes. Speaking of mud holes reminds me of a time we were crossing a Cypress pond with wagons loaded with shingles near Newberg. The wagon went down to the hubs, the mules went down to their bellies in the mud. The drivers (myself and the driver of the other team) waded around in the slush and mud as best we could until we released our teams from their entanglement in the harness. After cutting hame-strings and assisting, all we could do was succeed in getting the mules out, leaving the wagons buried in the mud. We then threw the shingles off in the pond, managed to get some timbers under the wheels, fastened log chains to the wagon tongue using enough chains to reach dry land. We then hitched the mules to this chain and pulled the wagon to land. We left the shingles in the pond to remain there until the pond dried up in the fall. The reader may imagine if he can what we looked like when we got home, and how we felt when we made a report to the boss.

One more somewhat similar experience. We were hauling a mill from near Benton to Murray. It was raining. We mired down. Wheels to axles. Dark came on us. Loosed the teams and rode into Murray minus wagons and cargo. We went back next morning for the wagons and found them frozen into the ground. We dug them out, prized them up, and came in fine shape over frozen ground. The owner of the mill and its fixtures was a Mr. Whitnell who erected a suitable building and started the first grist and saw mill ever in Murray. It was located near Pool Spring. When I was at Brandon's mill a few years ago the miller said he was using the same mill rocks we hauled that time. Some one told me last summer the rocks were now in a building on the hill south of the old mill site. My partner in all those experiences was Billy Mohandro, the father of Mrs. Ettie Outland of the Elm Grove community and Mrs. Mattie Mohandro of old Highland.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

NEW YORK, May 10.—BUSINESS—Looming ever larger in the calculations of business men is the tie-up of bituminous coal mining in the Appalachian region which last Saturday was entering its sixth week. New York suburbs, more rushed than ever because of World's Fair crowds, were forced to curtail main service 25 per cent because of dwindling fuel stocks for generating electricity. Serious as this was, it was considered only a small taste of what might happen over a wide area if dispute over terms of a new contract between mine and operators is not settled soon. With mills and factories in every state increasingly disturbed by coal shortages, a general recession in the nation's industrial activity could result before the end of the month, it was felt.

WASHINGTON—If the U. S. Chamber of Commerce wishes to see federal and state expenditures curtailed to an amount the country can afford on a pay-as-you-go basis, as indicated in one of 16 resolutions passed during its annual convention here last week, it should take steps to restrict the project-sponsoring activities of its thousands of local units. That in essence is what Senator Harrison, a Mississippi democrat who is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, told 1,000 delegates at a final dinner meeting. Whenever a local public works project is desired, he pointed out, the chamber in that area meets, resolves, and fights the representative, or Senator from that ballistics to obtain approval and appropriations for it.

SOUTHWARD TREK—Although only a year or so ago the South was cited as America's economic problem No. 1, a glance at recent construction contracts indicates the skies may soon be clearing over King Cotton's domain. From Clarksville, Tenn., last week came word of a new rubber factory to be built there by the B. F. Goodrich Company. Jones-Manville has just completed a new plant in Virginia to produce fiber board. In Carolina the American Cyanamid Company has a plant under way for water purification chemicals. The trend is unmistakable. Annual output of southern manufactured articles today is $10,500,000,000, more than 2½ times the value of the south's agricultural crop. Reasons given for the rubber concern's move indicate why the south's industrial development is forging ahead so rapidly. In Tennessee, its exhaustive engineering surveys established, the company will be nearer to certain markets, and to an important raw material—cotton—of which it uses many thousands of bales a year. Abundant, cheap water power is available in the TVA area. Labor is plentiful. Rail and water transportation facilities are excellent. Similar assets, including many other raw materials, attract other industries.

FARTHER SOUTH—Speaking of the South's progress, its major resort area around Miami, Florida, has been zooming to prosperity too. Visitors from every state and the six foreign countries during the six months just ended caused an increase of 17.2 per cent in winter tourist population compared with the previous year, it was reported last week. And once again proving the veracity of the old axiom, "It's an ill wind, etc.," recurrent war crises in Europe will divert thousands of summer seafarers to this spot and the Caribbean Sea region. In anticipation, four steamship lines have announced that regular winter-season cruise service to Miami will be extended into the months without "A's".

300TH BIRTHDAY—The printing industry has been celebrating its 300th birthday, America's first print shop having been brought from England to Cambridge, Mass., in 1639. Today there is hardly a cross-roads hamlet without some sort of printing establishment. It is an industry that annually turns out $2,000,000,000 worth of magazines, newspapers, books, pamphlets, circulars and calendars, and easily ranks among America's five leading businesses. Reassurance to printing men was given last week by Walter D. Fuller, president of Curtis Publishing Company, who told an industry convention that no better tool for the whole job of strengthening the distribution system has been conceived. In the future, he said, "though other mediums may be tried in the distraction of our times, printing is destined to be the all-important factor in the distribution of goods from producers to the ultimate consumer."

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—The first radical change in safety razor styles of one well-known manufacturer in a decade. . . . Also self-service shaves; an enterprising barber shop has installed electric razors which for 15 cents a customer may use to go to work on the stubble on his face. . . . Guarantees by one of the large installment finance companies that when you buy a new automobile there are no overcharges or hidden fees in the time-payment plan. . . . If visiting the N. Y. World's Fair this summer, a chance to see how the stock exchange functions; as a courtesy gesture for sightseers, the rule has been waived that member firms have to introduce guests before they can enter the gallery overlooking the trading floor.

HEADLINES IN NEW YORK—U. S. now mobilizing plants for output of essential war materials. . . . Treasury plans for tax law revisions to aid business are ready for submission to Congress. . . . Packard Motor Car cuts prices from $100 to $300; company now has largest production capacity in history. . . . High prices reduce raw silk consumption by 10,000 bales in April. . . . Although public is much interested, buying of television sets lags in first week of retail displays. . . . Utility industry ready to spend $100,000,000 for new plant facilities in next three years if present government restrictions are withdrawn.

I WISH SHE WOULD GET A TELEPHONE OF HER OWN.

IS YOUR TELEPHONE IN YOUR NEIGHBOR'S HOME?

It is often embarrassing to ask a neighbor to let you use her telephone. Of course neighbors are gracious about lending, in your household's little emergencies, but sometimes it is troublesome to both parties when an unexpected caller wants to borrow the telephone.

Possibly the embarrassment in using a neighbor's telephone arises from the fact that while one can return flour or coffee in full, borrowed telephone service cannot be repaid in kind.

If you seriously consider the many services the telephone renders many times each day, and compare its value with the small cost, you will probably agree that it is false economy to try to do without it. It is easy to order your telephone. Just get in touch with the Business Office, or give your order to any telephone employee.

MURRAY-WESTERN

year, Panepinto finished first with Gudauskas second.

Murray should be able to garner a first place in the javelin throw, with Harold Stanley having the spear. Western will be favored to win the distances, and the hurdles, with "Red" Oliver taking the low and high jumps. Labadie, of Murray, should be able to get a first in the broad jump.

The sprints are both teams' vulnerable points. The meet seemingly will hinge on the outcome of the 100, and the 22-yard dashes, and the way they place in the number two and three positions.

Western's freshman team, by virtue of having participated in a previous meet, will be favored over the Murray frosh, who will be starting for the first time. The Yearlings are strong in the mile with Don Turcotte, but lack punch in the dashes, and weights. Probably the feature of the meet will be the medley relay between the two frosh squads. The meet will start promptly at 1:30.

LETTERS to the Editor

Detroit, Mich.
And so May 1, 1939 is here. A new day, as we would say; yet bearing a striking resemblance, perhaps to the first May Day of the first year of all time.

It must at least be true of the 74 that have come and gone since this humble scribe was a wee boy. I love this first May Day. In this Michigan climate it is almost the first real spring day we get. Its warmth and beauty make these stiffened fingers want to say something about it.

I wonder if the Gregorians and the Roman Councils would have come nearer the mark to have made this the "Easter Day" instead of the way they fixed it. Anyway, we love our May. When she is gone we shall want not for her return, but for her sweet sisters to follow after her. Doubtless this will continue through succeeding years and generations till the first day of the last May before the angelic announcement that "Time shall be no longer." Rev. 10:5-6.

Our May Day

Our merry May Day here again But leagues had she to come And full many a knot to span Ere she could anchor home With all her royal grace Her counselors confer Assume her rightful place

For the days allotted her.

For her a royal throne.

Her reign but for a while She claims it as her own And takes it with a smile; She governs by a plan Moves on her graceful way Makes her best gifts to man But leaves no debts to pay.

We love our gentle May Her sunshine and her rain Tho on her voyage leagues away We look for her again Our own beloved May Lives on thru all the years And holds her gala day With her eleven peers.

Respectfully,

George R. Trevathan
